Dr. Donald F. Durnbaugh Speaks About M. R. Zigler as 1989 Glen Weimer Lecturer

Dr. Donald F. Durnbaugh, the Carl W. Zeigler Professor of History and Religion at Elizabethtown College, Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania, spoke at Bridgewater College December 5 and 6 on the topics "Church and State: The Historic Peace Church Viewpoint," and "M. R. Zigler: A Pragmatic Prophet." Dr. Durnbaugh was the 1989 Glen Weimer Lecturer.

In his first lecture on "Church and State: The Historic Peace Church Viewpoint," Dr. Durnbaugh traced the origin of Civilian Public Service in the 1930s due to the efforts of the Mennonites, the Quakers, and the Church of the Brethren. C.P.S., which opened its first camp late in the spring of 1940, was an experiment in cooperation between the churches and the government, resulting in a program which provided alternative service for conscientious objectors. Most participants in the program spent from one to seven years working on such projects as reforestation, additional staffing for mental hospitals, and volunteers for medical testing.

Such church leaders as Dan West (Brethren) and Clarence Pickett (Quaker) helped to create the C.P.S. program based on church volunteer work camps.

Of the approximately 43,000 men who were listed in alternative service during World War II, some 25,000 were non-combatants, and about 12,000 chose C.P.S. Civilian Public Service was a pioneer project which paved the way for broader, more effective service programs and prepared the churches for a wider range of relief work.

In "M. R. Zigler: Pragmatic Prophet" Dr. Durnbaugh reviewed the areas of influence on the life of M. R. Zigler which led him into a life of peace work. His home life was based on traditional Church of the Brethren values, and Zigler grew up regarding Elder John Kline as a hero and role model. His father was a deacon in the Church of the Brethren, and there were many times when visiting speakers and ministers stayed in the Zigler home sharing ideas and insights to which the young M. R. was exposed.

His college years at Bridgewater and his work with the YMCA helped to forge Zigler into a worker for peace. He was influential in the development of such programs as CROP and Heifer Project International.

M. R. Zigler, a 1984 nominee for the Nobel Peace Prize, was an ordained minister of the Church of the Brethren. He was the founder of the On Earth Peace program and established a peace academy and bookstore at the Brethren Service Center in New Windsor, MD.

Dr. Zigler was the Brethren representative on the World Council of Churches in 1948, and helped develop such groups as CARE, Church World Service, and the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP). During World War II, he chaired the Advisory Committee for Conscientious Objectors and was executive secretary of the Brethren Service Committee. Dr. Zigler also served as executive secretary of home missions for the General Mission Board of the Church of the Brethren and chairman of the home Missions Advisory Committee.

A graduate of Bridgewater College, Dr. Zigler attended Vanderbilt University (Nashville, TN), Bethany Theological Seminary (Oakbrook, IL), and the University of Chicago Divinity School.

Born in Broadway, Mr. Zigler was a member of the Linville Creek Church of the Brethren since 1901. He died at the age of 93 in 1985.

A graduate of Manchester College, Manchester, Indiana, Dr. Donald F. Durnbaugh earned his M.A. degree from the University of Michigan and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He has done advance study at Philipps-Universitaet Marburg, Marburg, Federal Republic of Germany.

Dr. Durnbaugh worked with the Brethren Service Commission in Austria and the Federal Republic of Germany from 1949 to 1951. He later served as director of the program from 1953 to 1956. He spent the years from 1958 to 1962 as Assistant Professor of History at Juniata College (Juniata, PA), and Associate Professor of Church History at Bethany Theological Seminary (Oakbrook, IL) from 1962 to 1969. In 1964-65, Dr. Durnbaugh served as Director of the Europe program of the Brethren Colleges Abroad.

Dr. Durnbaugh became Professor of Church History at Bethany Seminary in 1970, a position he held until 1988. He also served as an Adjunct Professor for Northern Baptist Theological Seminary from 1968 through 1971. Dr. Durnbaugh was the J. Omar Good Distinguished Visiting Professor at Juniata College for the 1988-89 academic year. He accepted his current position at Elizabethtown College this year.

A published author, Dr. Durnbaugh has had over 95 articles published in scholarly journals and periodicals. His works have appeared in such reference works as Encyclopedia American, Encyclopedia Britannica 3, Westminster Dictionary of Church History, and in The Brethren Encyclopedia. Dr. Durnbaugh served as Editor-in-Chief of The Brethren Encyclopedia. His editing included Church of the Brethren: Yesterday and Today, Meet the Brethren,

Profile—1990 Alumni Association President Larry M. Johnson

"I first saw Bridgewater's campus in 1963," Lawrence M. Johnson, '75, reflected. "I never forgot what the campus felt like. Bridgewater was always in the back of my mind."

When I interviewed Larry in Baltimore on November 1, All Saints Day, I was an observer as well as interviewer. He celebrated two Masses that day, one at Notre Dame Preparatory School and the second at his parish church, the Immaculate Heart of Mary, in Towson, Maryland, where he is Associate Pastor, a position he has held since 1986.

The Masses were celebrated for two totally different groups of people. The first was an informal service for intermediate-aged school girls. Larry addressed the issue of the saint within each of us, drawing responses from the students and involving them in the service. He related to them with ease, presenting a caring pastoral example to the students.

The second Mass, a more formal occasion for busy people on their lunch hour, brought in a mixed congregation of business people, parents with children, and older folks from the community. Again, Larry's message touched on the divine within us which should not be considered out of reach or overshadowed by the humanness. He emphasized the more human qualities of the saints to make their lifestyles less difficult to emulate. Both Masses were simple, but with a caring message. Each ended with Holy Communion. I was impressed with Larry's ease in moving within different groups of people, ministering to all without spiritually tripping in the shift from children to adults. His caring and love of people was, and is, very visible.

The son of Walter E. and Virginia Johnson of Baldwin, Md., Larry was raised in Timonium with a Catholic background. In the spring of 1971, when he was deciding on where he would spend his undergraduate years, Larry wanted a change from the huge student body at Dulaney Senior High School (Baltimore County, Maryland). "There were over 500 students in my high school graduating class. I wanted something different, a more personal setting." Larry was looking for a small southern college with a religious affiliation. Bridgewater's Brethren affiliation had a special appeal to Larry, as there is Brethren heritage on his mother's side of the family.

"As a Catholic student in a Brethren-related school, I was definitely in the minority. But the guys on my hall challenged me to live out my faith, rather than to try and 'convert' me. I was impressed by that."

Larry has long been people-oriented, using knowledge gained from his Bachelor's degree in psychology as a family counselor at the Maryland Association of Youth Service Bureaus. He also served as district executive of the Baltimore Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

The spiritual side of him gradually drew Larry towards a life of ministry. He earned a Bachelor's degree in Sacred Theology from St. Mary's Seminary and University (Roland Park, MD). During the summer months of 1980 and 1981, Larry served as pastor of the Sacred Heart Chapel in Grand Teton National Park, Wyoming. He also worked as the Training Supervisor of the Grand Teton Lodge Company. He returned to his studies at St. Mary's that fall and received a Master of Divinity degree from St. Mary's Seminary and University in 1982. Larry spent his internship at St. Mark's Catholic Church in Fallston, Maryland. On November 26, 1983, the day before Thanksgiving, Father Lawrence M. Johnson was ordained into the priesthood.

In June of 1984, Larry was named Associate Pastor at the Church of St. Mark in Catonsville, Maryland, and was appointed as Parochial Vicar of the Archdiocese of Baltimore and Archdiocesan Chaplain for Scouting.

In addition to his current position as Associate Pastor of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, Larry is a member of the Archdiocesan Com-

Dr. Carl H. Caldwell Joins Faculty as New Dean of Academic Affairs

Dr. Carl H. Caldwell of North Manchester, Indiana, has accepted appointment as Dean for Academic Affairs at Bridgewater College. Dr. Caldwell began his duties on August 1.

Prior to his position at Bridgewater, Dr. Caldwell served as Professor of History at Manchester College, where he had been a member of the faculty since 1971. From 1981 to 1984, he served in a dual role at the College—as Professor of History and as Associate Dean for Academic Affairs. In his role as Dean, Dr. Caldwell carried special responsibilities concerning academic advising, study skill development, and advisement of non-traditional students. The position which he occupied was designed to provide experiences in academic administration to some of Manchester's faculty members.

During Dr. Caldwell's term in this special role, he assisted in the preparation of Manchester's decennial reaffirmation of accreditation visit of the North Central Association as well as for the reaccreditation review by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. He carried a major role relative to the several self-studies involved.

Dr. Caldwell completed his doctoral degree in History at Indiana University in 1975. He received his Master's degree in History from Ohio University in 1968, after earning a Bachelor's degree with honors from Anderson College (Indiana).

Dr. Caldwell's postdoctoral experiences have included an NEH summer seminar at the University of California (1978); special research activity at Mansfield College, Oxford University (1979); a travel study seminar in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates (1987) and a travel study seminar in Yemen Arab Republic, Royal Kingdom of Jordan (1987); individual research in the India Office Library and Records, London, England (January-March 1989); and the Center for Documentation and Research, Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates (March-April 1989).

Dr. Carl H. Caldwell

Dr. Caldwell and his wife, the former Carolyn Falls, have two grown sons.

Mr. A. Barry Blay Leads 1990 Business and Professional Campaign

Mr. A. Barry Blay of Timberville is chairing the 1989-90 Bridgewater College Business and Professional Campaign. The retired Senior Vice President of Kawneer Company, Inc.'s, corporate office in Norcross, Georgia, plans to help this year's volunteers raise $150,000 for the College. "One goal of the campaign is to work toward filling the financial gap between what the students pay for tuition and the actual cost of their education," Mr. Blay explained. "Approximately 25 percent of the cost must be paid through gifts to the College." The 1989-90 campaign will in part support the Harry G. M. Jopson Chair of Biology, the Morgan Foundation Challenge for Nininger Hall, and the endowed scholarship program. "We want to encourage local professionals to give back to Bridgewater College some of the benefit they have received," Mr. Blay remarked. "On a conservative accounting basis, Bridgewater College is responsible for economic activity estimated to be $65 million per year in the Harrisonburg/ Rockingham County community."

Born in Canada, Mr. Blay served in the Royal Canadian Army in World War II as a gunner in the Royal Canadian Artillery. He graduated from the University of Toronto Engineering School in 1949 with a degree in Mechanical Engineering.

Mr. Blay joined the Kawneer Company Canada, Limited, in 1953. He served in various capacities for Kawneer, including Vice President for Sales and Marketing in Canada, Vice President of Marketing in Michigan, and Manager of Direct Contract Operation which includes International Activities involving the Middle East, Africa, and South and Central America. Mr. Blay has also served as Director of Marketing of Australian Consolidated Industries, and Director of Marketing and General Manager of Architectural Metal Products of PPG Industries, Architectural Metals Division, Kokomo, Indiana.

Mr. Blay's association with Bridgewater College began with his daughter Theresa's years as a student. Mr. Blay served as a member of the Parents' Advisory Committee and was a former chairman of the Parents' Gifts Committee. Last year, he was a team captain of the Bridgewater College Business and Professional Campaign. Due to his efforts as a fund raiser for the campaign, he was honored as the 1989 recipient of the Don Glick Award. Mr. Blay currently serves on the Board of Trustees for the College.

Mr. Blay and his wife, Naomi, are the parents of three grown children.

Long-Range Planning Committee Questionnaire Yields Supportive Results

Last spring a four-page questionnaire was included in Bridgewater to help the Long-Range Planning Committee better understand the perception of alumni, parents, and friends of the College's program and physical facilities. Of the total respondents (10 percent of those solicited), 88 percent were alumni, 9 percent were parents, and 3 percent were friends. A separate questionnaire was also sent to seniors.

"The results were most impressive," remarked Phillip C. Stone, Sr., '65, Chairman of the Long-Range Planning Committee and Vice Chairman of the Board of Trustees. Mr. Stone is a senior partner in the law firm of Wharton, Aldhizer and Weaver in Harrisonburg. "There were strong endorsements of Bridgewater's small size, its liberal arts tradition, and its strong academic background. Students indicated easy access to faculty in and out of the classroom. There were positive responses to the overall reaction to Bridgewater's educational program," Mr. Stone commented.

"The Long-Range Planning Committee has additional meetings scheduled yet this year to review the information gathered from the questionnaires and from other sources. An initial draft of proposals is being prepared," Mr. Stone continued. It is anticipated that the final report will be presented to the Board of Trustees at its spring meeting for consideration and possible adoption.

Alumni

The majority of alumni, 71 percent, attended Bridgewater since 1960. The alumni respondents were evenly divided between men and women. Of the alumni who responded to the questionnaire, 91 percent are graduates.

Bridgewater was the first choice for college attendance of 76 percent of the alumni, and the second choice of 19 percent. Major fields were evenly distributed with the strongest showing (15 percent) in business administration.

Master's degrees are held by 72 percent of those responding and 27 percent hold a Ph.D., Ed.D., M.D., or other doctoral degree.

In the category of academic preparation, 94 percent of the alumni responded that the liberal arts background had been very helpful or helpful in their careers or in career changes. Those who pursued graduate studies indicated that 65 percent were adequately or well prepared for their fields.

Faculty members were favorably assessed by 74 percent of their former students who feel the faculty were very good or superior in their major fields. Ninety-four percent of the alumni indicated that faculty were usually or very available to students during out-of-class hours. Administrators were ranked usually responsive (60 percent) to very responsive (19 percent) in addressing students needs.

Alumni rated the quality and kind of equipment for their field of study as average (70 percent) to high quality (17 percent). Library holdings for the general education program were deemed sufficient (66 percent) to fully sufficient (24 percent). In specific fields of study, library holdings ranked 63 percent sufficient to 19 percent fully sufficient.

In response to the question whether Bridgewater College should develop graduate programs, 42 percent said yes, 58 percent replied no. Those fields which were suggested most often for graduate programs were business administration (31 percent) and education (27 percent).

In the category of social preparation, 98 percent of the alumni enjoyed life on campus at least some of the time. The residence hall environment was significant (49 percent) to moderately influential (34 percent) in social development. The rules governing campus behavior ranked somewhat acceptable (26 percent) to very acceptable (20 percent) during the student years. Today's rules and campus environment rate almost the same.

Faculty and staff were sometimes (29 percent) to frequently (23 percent) available to students to help deal with personal problems. Of the respondents, 36 percent did not find this question applicable.

Examining the question of quality of personal counseling on campus, 41 percent ranked the quality from fair to very good, and 52 percent did not experience personal counseling. On the question of career counseling, 47 percent found the quality very good to average, while 34 percent did not experience career counseling.

For 88 percent of the alumni respondents, extracurricular activities provided opportunities to develop leadership skills. Of the alumni, 36 percent participated in intercollegiate athletics, while 64 percent participated in intramural athletics. Athletic participation ranked very significant to personal development for 22 percent, moderately significant for 29 percent, and not significant for 49 percent.

Of the alumni who completed the questionnaire, 94 percent have been back to Bridgewater since graduation, with 54 percent of those attending a class reunion. Thirty percent have attended alumni chapter meetings, and 74 percent plan to attend future reunions or meetings. Those who contribute to the Alumni Annual Fund regularly to occasionally represented 81 percent.

Parents

Parents who responded to the questionnaire were a combination of parents of current students (36 percent) and parents of alumni (64 percent). In answer to the question "From what source did you learn about Bridgewater College," the greatest percentage (29 percent) were from alumni whose children also attended Bridgewater. Two other sources with impact were from another alumnus (10 percent) and from other sources not mentioned in the list (21 percent).

The parents' perception of the College's academic program before their son's or daughter's enrollment was extremely good (50 percent) or good (42 percent). The response to the question on whether the academic program lived up to their expectations was that the program had either met (88 percent) or had exceeded expectations (5 percent).

Parental response to the rules governing campus life showed that 81 percent were pleased or very pleased with the rules, and that enforcement of the College's policies met with expectations (93 percent).

Parents felt they were usually kept well informed, (94 percent) and that there was adequate communication concerning progress and/or personal problems of their sons or daughters most of the time (84 percent).

Those parents of alumni were pleased or very pleased with the education received by their sons or daughters (89 percent). Parents felt that their sons or daughters achieved some positive personal growth (96 percent), and 94 percent of them said they would recommend Bridgewater to a young person.

Friends

Friends of Bridgewater became acquainted with the College through an alumnus (33 percent), church (36 percent), business (4 percent), or some other source (27 percent). Of the friends who responded, 87 percent feel that the reputation of Bridgewater's academic program is good to extremely good. They also feel that, as a college, Bridgewater emphasizes Christian values (89 percent), and 96 percent of the friends see a value to society at large in preserving independent, church-related colleges like Bridgewater. The friends further responded (91 percent) that Bridgewater alumni are contributing positively to their communities. Bridgewater alumni are rated as highly competent (47 percent) and competent (53 percent) by the friends. These were the only two ratings indicated on this question by the respondents.

Physical Environment

Questions on the physical environment were answered by all groups. The question concerning the ideal size of the student body at Bridgewater ranged from 900-950 students (16 percent); 950-1,000 students (33 percent); and 1,000-1,200 students (43 percent).

New facilities which should be constructed within the next five years were the science building (40 percent), the library addition (8 percent) and other buildings. Within the next ten years, the science building again takes precedence (12 percent); a fine arts building (16 percent); and a library addition (9 percent).

Seniors

A similar questionnaire was presented to the 1989 graduating class. Of those who responded, 57 percent indicated that Bridgewater was their first choice, and 32 percent showed it was a second choice for college attendance.

In the area of academic preparation, 78 percent of the seniors rated Bridgewater's faculty as very good or superior. The students responded overwhelmingly (99 percent) that the faculty were usually to very available during out-of-class hours. Students were somewhat more critical of Bridgewater's equipment with 80 percent of the students identifying it as average to above average in quality.

Library holdings also received a range of reviews. The seniors were almost evenly divided on the question of whether the library holdings were fully sufficient for research in all of their fields.

Most of the seniors (98 percent) enjoyed life on campus to some degree during their years at Bridgewater. The residence hall experiences contributed moderately or significantly to personal development for 76 percent of them. While students have mixed feelings concerning rules governing campus life, 69 percent generally found them acceptable.

The enthusiasm for Bridgewater College is illustrated by the fact that 63 percent of the seniors felt that a graduate program should be available in such fields as business administration, education, and biology.

For those seniors who approached faculty and staff to help them deal with personal problems, 57 percent found them available most of the time. Interestingly enough, in rating the quality of personal problem counseling, 58 percent of the seniors did not utilize the College's personal counseling services, but of those seniors who used the services, 74 percent rated the services as good or above.

With 88 percent of the seniors utilizing career counseling, 63 percent of those who experienced career counseling, 51 percent rated it good or very good. Twelve percent of the respondents did not experience career counseling.

Involvement in extracurricular activities provided opportunities to develop leadership skills for 95 percent of the seniors who responded, indicating significant influence.

Preference for the ideal student body size ran from 900-950 (27 percent), to 950-1,000 (34 percent), to 1,000-1,200 (22 percent). Only 10 percent feel that the student body should be below 900.

Of the seniors who responded, 52 percent indicated the need for a new science facility in the next 5 years, with 9 percent interested in a new fine arts center.

Dr. Robert L. Stuhr Honored at President's Dinner

Dr. Robert L. Stuhr visits with Mr. Brydon M. DeWitt after the dinner.

Dr. Robert L. Stuhr, a partner in the firm of Gonser Gerber Tinker Stuhr, Public Relations and Development Consultants, was honored Friday, November 3, with the 1989 Bridgewater College Outstanding Achievement Award at the annual President's Dinner. Dr. Stuhr has been in the field of public relations and development for more than 40 years. Mr. Phillip C. Stone, Sr., '65, senior partner in the law firm Wharton Aldhizer & Weaver of Harrisonburg, gave the evening address.

Also honored at the dinner were the chairmen of the fund-raising committees associated with the College's major fund-raising campaign "Impact/91—A Projection in Excellence," which was formally completed June 30, 1989, with a total of $19,673,703 in contributions and pledges. The following persons were recognized: Mr. Ronald V. Cox, '59, sales representative for CMDS (Computer Management and Development Services) of Harrisonburg, who was chairman of the Alumni Gifts Committee; Rev. Fred W. Swartz, '58, Pastor of the Manassas Church of the Brethren of Manassas, who chaired the Church-College Relations Committee; Mr. Loren S. Simpson, '40, a retired educator of Bridgewater, who was past chairman of the Church-College Relations Committee; Mr. Frank C. Rittenhouse, '36, Proprietor of General Business Services of Timonium, Maryland, who was past chairman of the Church-College Relations Committee; Mr. William H. Ralston, Jr., '63, partner in the law firm of Moore Jackson Ralston & Crist, Harrisonburg, who was chairman of the Estate Planning Committee; Mr. Donald E. Phibbs, '57, retired senior partner of Phibbs, Burkholder, Geisert & Huffman CPAs of Harrisonburg, who was past chairman of the Estate Planning Committee; Mr. Edward M. Young, '65, partner in the firm of Young, Nicholas, Mills and Co., CPAs of Harrisonburg, who chaired the Giving Clubs Committee; Mr. W. Wallace Hatcher, '55, President of Lantz Construction Company of Broadway, Chairman of Impact/91 and also served as chairman of the Major Gifts Committee; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Schindel, owners of Antietam Paper Company, Hagerstown, Maryland, co-chairpersons of the Parents' Gifts Committee; and Mr. Rodney I. Smith, President of Smith-Midland Corporation, Midland, Virginia, who was past chairman of the Parents' Gifts Committee.

Mr. Stone reported on the progress of the College's Long-Range Planning Committee. He commented on the importance of the recent fund-raising efforts of Impact/91 and the need to continue the tradition of looking ahead to keep pace with the needs of society in Bridgewater's educational program while maintaining the ethical standards which the College promotes.

Dr. Stuhr holds a B.A. degree in journalism from Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa. He later earned his M.A. degree in English from the University of Iowa, and a Ph.D. degree in Mass Communications from Northwestern University in Illinois.

Early in his communications career, Dr. Stuhr worked for the Register and Tribune in Des Moines, Iowa. He also taught English at Dowling High School in Des Moines.

In 1946-47, Dr. Stuhr was a Public Information Specialist in Washington, D.C., with the Department of Labor. For the next 12 years, he was Chief Development Officer at Drake University. Among his achievements at Drake, Dr. Stuhr started the Annual Giving Program and is a member of the Francis Marion Drake Society, Drake's society of top donors. Dr. Stuhr served as Executive Secretary of the National Alumni Association from 1950 to 1959.

For the last 30 years he has been with the development consulting firm of Gonser Gerber Tinker Stuhr. When he joined the firm in 1959, there was little or no literature on the subject of development, public relations and student recruitment. Many of the words we take for granted in the field of development, such as annual fund and capital campaign, were coined at Gonser Gerber Tinker Stuhr. As the principle author of the well-known Bulletin, issued by his firm, Dr. Stuhr shaped and molded the concepts of the development field. The organization of the development office and its place in the structure of the college today came from the mind and pen of Bob Stuhr. As a senior partner with this firm, he has served as development consultant to more than 60 schools, colleges, universities, and other philanthropic institutions.

The firm itself has served as consultants to continuing development programs in more than 450 colleges, preparatory schools, hospitals, and philanthropic institutions.

Dr. Stuhr is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Delta Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Omicron Delta Kappa. A member for nearly 30 years, he served as Executive Director and Associate Director of The Economic Club of Chicago from 1967 to 1986. He is a member of the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education, an accredited member of the Public Relations Society

Board of Trustees Approves Budget of $12 Million, Elects New Trustees at Fall Meeting

The Bridgewater College Board of Trustees approved an operating budget of $12,806,043 for the 1989-90 academic year during its fall meeting on Friday, November 3. This is the largest budget in the history of the College. This amount represents an increase of almost $1½ million over last year.

During committee meetings and in the meeting of the total Board, attention was devoted to financial projections concerning the College's fiscal operations. Reports were heard concerning the successful completion of the "Impact/91—A Projection in Excellence" program.

Reports were received concerning the various physical plant projects completed during the past year as well as concerning projects for the future. Attention was directed to the recently completed Nininger Hall expansion project, the improvements to the basement area of Memorial Hall, and the renovation and redecoration of Bowman Hall. Board members visited Nininger Hall, Bowman Hall, the Memorial Hall basement, and the construction sites of the new residence hall and of the maintenance facility renovation, in addition to hearing reports concerning them.

At the autumn meeting of the Bridgewater College Board of Trustees, three new trustees were elected, and several other trustees were re-elected to the Board. Those trustees are: A. Barry Blay, retired Senior Vice President of Kawneer Company, Inc., of Timberville; B. Merle Crouse, '52, Church of the Brethren Executive of St. Cloud, Florida; William H. Groseclose, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Dominion Bank of the Shenandoah Valley, N.A., of Harrisonburg; Phillip C. Stone, Sr., '65, senior partner in the law firm of Wharton Aldhizer & Weaver in Harrisonburg; and Nelson T. Wetsel, President of Wetsel Seed Company in Harrisonburg. Elected to a new five-year term on the Board was Paul H. Geithner, Jr., President and Chief Administrative Officer of First Virginia Banks, Incorporated, of Fairfax, Virginia. Elected to an unexpired term, ending in 1992, was Dwight E. Houff, Chief Executive Officer of Houff Transfer Inc., of Weyers Cave. In recognition of his long-term service as a trustee, Ira D. Layman, Jr., '38, President and General Manager of Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Company in Daleville, Va., was elected to the Life Trustee status. In recognition of his professional work in the interests of Bridgewater College, Donald E. Phibbs, '57, retired senior partner in the CPA firm Phibbs Burkholder Geisert & Huffman of Harrisonburg, was elected as an Honorary Trustee.

Re-elected to serve with President Wayne F. Geisert in official relationships to the Board and, thus, to the College were: W. Wallace Hatcher, '55, President of Lantz Construction Company of Broadway, who continues as Chairman of the Board of Trustees; Phillip C. Stone, '65, who serves as Vice Chairman for Educational Policy and Campus Life; James L. Keeler, '57, Chief Executive Officer of WLR Foods, Inc., of Harrisonburg, who serves as Vice Chairman for Development and Public Relations; William D. Wampler, '50, Senior Vice President of WLR Foods, Inc., of Harrisonburg, who serves as Secretary; Melvin D. The Estate Planning Seminar—Recent Developments in Estate and Gift Taxation

by William R. Swecker
Director of Planned Giving

Mr. John E. Donaldson

Mr. John E. Donaldson, Ball Professor of Law in the Marshall-Wythe School of Law at the College of William & Mary, was the guest speaker at Bridgewater College's 12th Annual Estate Planning Seminar on Friday, December 1. Mr. Donaldson addressed the topic "Recent Developments in Estate and Gift Taxation—Selected Planning Techniques." The seminar, which was well attended by over 90 lawyers, accountants, trust officers, and other estate related professionals, qualified for 3.0 hours of continuing legal education credit from the Virginia State Bar and 4.5 hours CPE credit for Fellow and Associate members of VSCPA.

Professor Donaldson, a graduate of the University of Richmond, received his J.D. degree from the College of William & Mary, followed by an LL.M. degree from Georgetown University. He served as an attorney in the office of the Chief Counsel of the Internal Revenue Service from 1964 to 1966. He joined the law faculty of the College of William & Mary in 1966, where he has served as Assistant Vice President of the College, Associate Dean of the School of Law, Counsel to the William and Mary Endowment Association, and Director of the Graduate Tax Program. Currently, he serves as Coordinator of the Continuing Legal Education Program.

Mr. Donaldson is a member of the Virginia State Bar; the Board of Governors, Section on Trusts and Estates; the mandatory Continuing Legal Education Board; and a former member of the Executive Committee of the Virginia State Bar Association. He is also a member of the College Association Committee on Eminent Domain; Chairman of the Subcommittee on Wills; and Chairman of the Section on Taxation.

His community involvement has included service on the County Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors of James City County, Virginia, and as a Trustee of Williamsburg Community Hospital.

In the first section of his seminar presentation, John Donaldson covered recent developments in estate and gift taxation including cases, rulings and legislation reported or enacted between September, 1988, and November, 1989.

These included the new methods for valuing annuities, interests for life, or for a term of years, and remainder and reversionary interests. He also dealt with preferential valuation of farm land and other qualified property; transfers of assets within three years of death; and transfers with retained interests. Also of importance to this particular audience were sections dealing with the marital deduction, charitable bequests, and various "QTIP" arrangements and uses.

He next covered changes in the area of gift taxation which included valuation and taxable transfers of assets; termination of joint ownership arrangements; and the charitable deduction relative to various charitable remainder trusts.

A final part of the early morning session concluded by covering "TAMRA" changes in the generation skipping tax and their consequences.

The second half of the seminar dealt with "Working with the Elderly Client: Selected Financial and Estate Planning Techniques". This began with an overview of the financial and estate planning objectives of the elderly, followed by a discussion of the durable power of attorney as a mechanism for substitute decision making—its uses, its standard powers and express powers.

This section concluded with a presentation of planning opportunities under the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act including potential transfers and asset dispositions by both institutionalized and community spouses, as well as testamentary planning techniques.

The seminar concluded with a luncheon served in the Kline Campus Center.

This seminar was underwritten by Bridgewater College and the following area banks: Crestar Bank, Dominion Bank, Dominion Trust Company, First American Bank of Virginia, First Virginia Bank-Planters, F & M Bank/ Massanutten, N.A., Jefferson National Bank, and Sovran Bank, N.A.

and To Serve the Present Age: The Brethren Service Story.

Within the Church of the Brethren, Dr. Durnbaugh has served on the Fraternal Relations Committee as well as various Annual Conference committees. He was the head of the delegation of the Brethren-Russian Orthodox Exchange in 1971, and he served as Moderator for the Church of the Brethren in 1985-86.

Dr. Durnbaugh received the University of Pennsylvania Scholar award in 1956-57, and was the University of Pennsylvania Fellow in 1957-58. He was honored by the Colonial Society of Pennsylvania in 1957 with the Colonial History Award. Dr. Durnbaugh received both the Alumni Award in 1978 and the honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree in 1980 from Manchester College. He received the Faculty Fellowship grant from the American Association of Theological Schools in 1971, the Senior Fellowship grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities in 1976, and the Theological Research Award from the Association of Theological Schools in 1986.

The lectures are made possible by the Glen Weimer Christian Vocation of Peace and Peace Making Fund. The Glen Weimer Fund was established in honor of the late Reverend Glen Weimer, a Church of the Brethren pastor. The lectureships are supported through an endowment provided by the estate of Rev. Weimer and contributions of his widow, Clarabel Weimer, their family and friends.

Ina M. Shank—A Brethren Volunteer by Melissa Pollock, '93

Mrs. Ina M. Shank

For six months this past year, Ina M. Shank, '48, gave her time to Brethren Volunteer Service. Working on a project within the On Earth Peace program in New Windsor, Maryland, Mrs. Shank prepared display materials, developed logos, made banners, substituted for people, and also wrote a brief history on the fifteen-year life of On Earth Peace.

A member of the Bridgewater Church of the Brethren, Mrs. Shank has been involved in church projects most of her life. After she graduated from Bridgewater College in 1948, she taught music at Broadway Elementary and High School for two years. She then worked for one and a half years in the Staunton Church of the Brethren as an assistant to the pastor. In December of 1951, Ina Mason married Harry W. Shank. They became the parents of four sons, all of whom are Bridgewater graduates.

Years later, Mrs. Shank decided to continue her career. For ten years, she worked as a secretary of the Bridgewater Church of the Brethren. She then joined the staff at Bridgewater College as a secretary in the National Direct Student Loan Program (now known as the Perkins Loan Program) in 1979. When she retired from her position at Bridgewater in 1987, Mrs. Shank became involved in a number of volunteer programs, such as Church Women United and Central Valley Habitat for Humanity. She helped to organize the Interchurch Food Pantry, located at the Bridgewater Church of the Brethren, and was active with the Food Pantry from 1984 until 1988. In March of 1989, Mrs. Shank began her six-month service with On Earth Peace. Since returning from New Windsor, she has decided to keep a little time for herself in her home in Mt. Crawford (VA). Even so, she has renewed her involvement with the Central Valley Habitat for Humanity.

Working for the Church has always been a very important factor in Ina Shank's life, and working for the Brethren

Volunteer Service was something she had wanted to do since her student days at Bridgewater. Brethren Volunteer Service was established in 1948 to help people by feeding the hungry, sheltering the homeless, and giving aid to natural disaster victims. Mrs. Shank went to work as soon as she graduated, so it was just this past year when she was finally able to fulfill her life-long wish. Her dedication is evident in her words: "When you work all your life, that's your purpose; but when you do something for volunteer purposes, it has deeper meaning for you." Mrs. Shank also said that working for B.V.S. was extremely rewarding. "The most incredible experience at New Windsor was seeing the amazing amount of work that the Church and interdenominational groups are doing to alleviate suffering and poverty and unhappy conditions around the world."

Ina Shank is, and has been, a wonderfully devoted woman. She remarked that occasionally she feels her efforts were not enough to make a difference. But, when this happens, she just remembers a quote from one of the other volunteers: "I found that one person alone can't do the job, but one plus one plus one working together can!"

Mr. Ralph MacPhail, Jr.

Mr. Ralph MacPhail, Jr., '65, Associate Professor of Theatre, Speech, and English, participated in "Gilbert & Sullivan: A Window on the Victorian World" in New York the week of November 12-18.

Sponsored by the Victorian Society in America and the Pierpont Morgan Library, the symposium accompanied the opening of an exhibition at the Library of all existing full scores for the Gilbert & Sullivan comic operas and other important materials relating to the Victorian collaboration.

MacPhail's session was devoted to readings from Gilbert's works, with a goal of showing the variety in genre and the comic appeals of the dramatist's non-dramatic writing.

MacPhail has been a member of the faculty and Director of Theatre since 1972.

Dr. Edward W. Huffstetler

Two poems by Dr. Edward W. Huffstetler, Assistant Professor of English, entitled "Progeny" and "Summer Violations," will be included in Road Publishers upcoming series The Poet's Domain—Volume 1, Regional Voices. The book is expected to be on the shelves by next summer.

A graduate of Coker College in Hartsville, South Carolina, Dr. Huffstetler earned his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in English from the University of Iowa. He joined the Bridgewater faculty in 1988.

Mr. Ted Flory

Mr. Ted Flory, '70, Assistant Professor of Computer Science and Manager of the C.E. Shull Computer Center, was appointed for a third term as Chairman of the Academic Special Interest Group of National Prime (computer) User's Group, commonly called NPUG.

The Academic Special Interest Group is one of eight groups within the NPUG organization. The chairs of these Special Interest Groups form the Technical Board of NPUG which is responsible for focusing, prioritizing, clarifying, and conveying the desires and concerns of the membership to Prime Computer, Inc.

As a Special Interest Group Chair, Mr. Flory's responsibilities include meeting with representatives of Prime's software engineering staff, reviewing the submitted papers and selecting the talks for inclusion in the conference agenda, and making arrangements for the conference. Mr. Flory also writes regular articles regarding Special Interest Group activities for the Bi-monthly publication "NPUG News" and acts as a contact person for academic Prime users from around the world who want information relating to NPUG, Prime, or the Academic Special Interest Group.

Mr. Flory recently presented a paper entitled "NDSL/Perkins Loan Management" at the 1989 Virginia Administrative Computing Conference in October. This initial meeting of the VACC, which was held at Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, is comprised of computing administrators from across the state. Approximately 75 to 100 people representing 28 schools were in attendance.

Mr. Flory's presentation explained Bridgewater College's implementation of the software that is required to assist the NDSL/Perkins Loan Office in maintaining the data base of outstanding loans and to aid in the collection of loans for borrowers who are currently in their repayment period.

Mr. Flory has been a member of the faculty since 1970.

Football

The Bridgewater College football team placed 10 players on the all-conference team selected by the Old Dominion Athletic Conference coaches.

Being named to the All-ODAC first team were senior fullback Anthony Lawrence (Virginia Beach, VA), senior linebacker Jeff Whiten (Frederick, MD), senior cornerback Deon Johnson (Fredericksburg, VA), junior defensive tackle Mike Fitzmeyer (Fairfax, VA) and junior punter Brian Puckett (Roanoke, VA).

Making the All-ODAC second team were senior safety George Bramhall (Lovettsville, VA), senior guard David Foley (Oakton, VA), senior halfback Adrian Mobley (Chesapeake, VA), senior center Tim Harrison (Lexington, VA) and sophomore tackle Wayne Short (Webster Springs, WV).

Lawrence was named to the All-ODAC first team for the third straight year after rushing for 777 yards and five touchdowns this season. He set the Bridgewater career rushing record with 3,716 yards and he also broke the Eagles' career scoring mark with 174 points. Both records were previously held by two-time Little All-America Marshall Flora, and have stood for nearly 20 years.

Whiten, who was named to the first team for the second straight year, led the Eagles in tackles for the third straight season. He set a Bridgewater season record this year with 119 stops, and he finished his career with 348 tackles. Johnson is also a repeater on the All-ODAC first team after finishing the season with a team-high four interceptions and three pass breaks. He was in on 38 tackles. Puckett returns to the All-ODAC first team after averaging 38.0 yards a kick this season to lead the conference for the second straight year. He punted 43 times for 1,634 yards. Fitzmeyer was a second team All-ODAC pick last year, but improved his standing after posting a team-high seven sacks. Fitzmeyer was third on the team in tackles with 68 and he also recovered two fumbles.

Bramhall was named to the All-ODAC team for the second straight year after making 68 tackles and two interceptions in 1989. Foley is also a repeater on the second team after another solid season on BC's offensive line. Mobley was second on the team in rushing with 628 yards and second in receiving with 13 grabs for 161 yards. He finishes his career in fifth place on the BC all-time rushing list with 1,664 yards. Harrison moved to center this season after playing guard for most of his career and is making his first appearance on the all-conference squad. Short is also on the All-ODAC team for the first time after starting at tackle for the second straight year.

The Eagles finished their 1989 season with a 4-6 record overall and a 1-3 mark in the ODAC. All of BC's losses came to teams with .500 records or better.

Volleyball

Bridgewater senior volleyball player Julie Nicholson (Winchester, VA) was selected as the Old Dominion Athletic Conference's Player-of-the-Year, and head coach Mary Frances Heishman was named Coach-of-the-Year by the ODAC coaches.

Nicholson was named to the All-ODAC first team for the first time and became the second straight Bridgewater player to garner Player-of-the-Year honors. She led the Eagles in kills (279) and attack percentage (31.8%), and was second on the squad in blocks with 45. Earlier this season, she was named to the All-Tournament team at the Bridgewater Invitational Tournament.

Heishman led the Eagles to a 29-5 record and was named the ODAC's Coach-of-the-Year for the second straight season and for the fourth time in the last six years. Bridgewater won its second straight ODAC regular season title with a perfect 9-0 mark, captured its second straight ODAC tournament crown and made its second consecutive appearance in the 24-team NCAA tournament. The Eagles won their first round NCAA match against the Rochester Institute of Technology 15-3, 9-15, 15-11, 15-4, before losing to the region's top seed Juniata 15-7, 15-12, 11-15, 15-7 in the round of 16.

Two other Bridgewater players also received post-season honors. Senior setter Debra Burch (Altavista, VA) was named to the All-ODAC first team, while senior setter Annette Delahay (Staunton, VA) was named to the All-ODAC second team. Burch was chosen to the All-ODAC team for the first time after tying for the team lead in setting percentage (95.4%) and finishing second on the squad in service percentage (96.8%). Delahay was selected to the second team for the second straight year after tying for the team lead in setting percentage (95.4%) and leading Bridgewater in assists with 430.

Field Hockey

The Bridgewater College field hockey team placed two players on the Old Dominion Athletic Conference's all-conference team in voting by ODAC coaches.

Junior link Patti Dzikowicz (Glenwood, NJ) was named to the All-ODAC first team, while sophomore goalie Tricia Hyer (Fallston, MD) was selected to the All-ODAC second team.

Basketball Previews

Women's Team

Dzikowicz, who was named to the All-ODAC first team as a freshman and to the second team last season, was a solid defender for the Eagles and had 41 defensive saves. She also scored three goals and had four assists. Dzikowicz was also a second-team All-Region selection last season.

Hyer was named to the All-ODAC squad for the first time after a strong season in goal for Bridgewater. In 15 games, she made 193 saves (12.7 avg) and allowed just 29 goals (1.9 per game). She played 1025 minutes and averaged .028 goals per minute, among the best in the ODAC.

Bridgewater finished its season with a 6-11 record overall and a 4-4 mark in the conference.

Cross Country

When it comes to the win-loss record, the Bridgewater College cross country team had a tough season. But for the young Eagles, there were a pair of outstanding individual accomplishments.

Sophomore Steve Spire (Dandridge, TN) upset several runners that had beaten him earlier in the season and finished fifth in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference cross country championships. The finish gave Spire a spot on the All-ODAC team, marking the first time since 1987 and only the second time since 1984 that a Bridgewater runner has made the all-conference squad.

The Bridgewater women's cross country squad, which finished its first season with some positive accomplishments, also had an outstanding performer. Freshman Rona Berwick (Bumpass, VA) finished second in the ODAC and fifth in the state meet to garner All-ODAC and All-State honors. The women's team will hope to add to its three-member squad next season and become an official team sport.

Optimism is high as the Bridgewater women's basketball team readies itself for the 1989-90 campaign. Head coach Laura Mapp begins her 29th season with the most experienced group she has had in quite some time, and the Eagles will be looking to improve on last season's 19-9 record and Old Dominion Athletic Conference regular season title.

"I think the potential is there," said Mapp, who is the winningest active coach in Division III with 378 victories. "I feel like in our practices that we're a little bit more ahead this year than we were at this point last year."

Bridgewater returns nine players from last year's squad, including all five starters, but finding incentive will be no problem. Of those five starters, four of them are seniors who still have one major obstacle they would like to clear before graduating—winning the ODAC tournament.

"The seniors are very optimistic about the season," Mapp said. "They have been in the finals of the ODAC tournament all three years, and I think they're ready to go one more step to be a champion. At the same time, they realize the conference is going to be much more competitive with Randolph-Macon and Virginia Wesleyan coming in."

Bridgewater will look to be a little stronger on defense this season, especially when it comes to pressing, but the offense should be in high gear once again. The Eagles led the country in scoring offense last season with an average of 85.2 points a game, and they were sixth in the nation in field goal percentage at 48.3%.

"I guess they will look to run," Mapp said. "It's hard to put the reigns on them when it's a big part of their game. They're in good condition, so I don't know that we can hold them down."

Orchestrating the Eagles' running game will be returning guards Debra Burch (Altavista, VA) and Melody Derrow, (Broadway, VA). Burch is a three-year starter for the Eagles at point guard, and she averaged 7.7 points and 5.2 assists per game last season. Her quickness is an outstanding asset. Derrow was a first-team All-ODAC and All-State selection last season after averaging 17.1 points and 5.0 rebounds a game. The 5'7" junior led the Eagles in scoring 15 times last year, and she should be even better with the added year of experience. Junior Sheila Moser (Weatherly, PA), who was named to the ODAC All-Tournament team, is also back to provide depth in the backcourt.

Returning at the two forward spots are seniors Fonda Harlow (Mt. Solon, VA) and Kelly Worley (Waynesboro, VA). Harlow was a second-team All-ODAC selection last year after averaging 13.9 points and 4.4 rebounds a contest last season. She also led the ODAC in assists with 5.3 per game. Worley chipped in with 13.3 points per game, and she was second on the team in rebounding with 6.4 a contest. She was also named to the All-ODAC second team. Behind them are junior Jackie Carlton (Charlottesville, VA), who added 6.0 points and 3.0 rebounds a game last season, and sophomores Tricia Hyer (Fallston, MD) and Robin Lefler (North Tazewell, VA), both of whom Mapp says are playing with added confidence.

At center, senior Candy Cahall (Ocean City, MD) returns after a fine year in 1988. In her first year as a starter, she led the team in rebounding with 6.8 per game and scored 10.3 points a contest.

As good as the returning players are, several newcomers could also see some action. Junior Pam Hensley (Elkton, VA) and freshmen Katie McDaniel (Ruckersville, VA) and Tricia Weatherholtz (Luray, VA) could see some time in the backcourt, while freshmen Julie Hanover (Jericho, VT) and Elaine Carter (Orange, VA) should help up front. Mapp says the competition the newcomers are giving the returners is very beneficial.

"Even though five starters are back, we have some incoming players that are going to push them, which I think is good," she said. "It pushes them in practice, and it will also hopefully give us depth."

Bridgewater's schedule will not be an easy one. The Eagles open their season at an eight-team tournament at Marymount University which includes the possibility of playing defending national champion Elizabethtown. The conference slate should also be tougher this season as several teams have improved.

Men's Basketball

After winning 57 games and two Old Dominion Athletic Conference titles in the last three years, Bridgewater men's basketball coach Bill Leatherman will be surrounded by several new faces as he begins the 1989-90 campaign. The Eagles' roster contains just three players that saw significant playing time on last year's 16-9 squad, and there is just one senior and no juniors on the 17-man squad.

"I'm a realist," Leatherman said. "I know the high level of success we've had in the last three years was relative to good players and continuity of people—and that's gone now. It's been four years since I've gone into a season not knowing who was going to be starting."

But do not think for a minute that Leatherman is counting his team out this season. Sophomores Todd Rush and Jeff Kumper return after solid rookie seasons, and Bridgewater will be blessed with a promising group of freshmen that will step into key roles immediately.

"This is not a rebuilding year, but a reloading year," Leatherman said. "This is the best crop of freshmen we've had since I came here five years ago. Our only goal is to get progressively better as we go along, which I think we will."

Along with inexperience, the Eagles will have to overcome a tough schedule and a lack of height. Though Leatherman can do nothing to change games with state powers Hampden-Sydney, Randolph-Macon and Shenandoah, he does plan to make some adjustments to offset his size problem. Offensively, Bridgewater will look to run the ball a little bit more, although the Eagles will continue the same patient attack that resulted in them leading the country in field goal percentage last year at 55%. Defensively, BC will attempt to use a variety of zone defenses to keep teams off-balance.

"I think we're going to have to play more zone than we like to play," Leatherman said. "That presents boxing out problems, but I don't think we can play much man-to-man with teams that have 6'7" guys like most ODAC teams have."

For the Eagles to be successful this season, much of the burden will fall on the shoulders of Rush. The 6'6" forward from Logan, WV, started all 25 games as a freshman last season and scored more points (364) than any BC freshman in more than a decade. He was second on the team in scoring (14.6 ppg) and rebounding (4.0 rpg), and finished eighth in the country in field goal percentage (64.6%). As impressive as those numbers are, Leatherman expects even more from him this season.

"We've told Todd one thing we don't want him to do is to lead the nation in field goal percentage, because all those guys don't shoot much," Leatherman said. "We want him shooting a lot and scoring inside and outside. He's also got to rebound and provide leadership. Todd's an impact player who you can build things around."

The Eagles' other returning starter is Kumper, who returns to the point guard spot he inherited in the sixth game last season. The 6-foot sophomore from Richmond averaged just 2.8 points and 2.4 assists per game last season, but he did an outstanding job of directing the BC attack and distributing the ball. His leadership role will increase in 1989-90 and so will his scoring average according to Leatherman.

"I hope he'll take more of a leadership role," Leatherman said. "We don't want Jeff to be a great scorer, but he's worked very hard on his perimeter shooting and we feel now that if people back off of him he can knock it home."

Bridgewater's other top returner is senior Jason Blumberg, who has played a key role for the Eagles off the bench in the last two seasons. Blumberg started nine games last season and averaged 5.8 points and 2.9 rebounds a contest.

The rest of the Bridgewater lineup will be filled by young players who are loaded with talent, but are short on experience. In the backcourt, sophomore Eric Gerber and freshman Chris Ihle are battling for the shooting guard spot. Both are excellent outside shooters and Leatherman is hoping one of them will turn into an effective scorer.

At the small forward spot, freshmen Neil Burke could step into the spot vacated by four-year starter Todd DeBerry. Like DeBerry, Burke is a graduate of Northside High School in Roanoke, but Leatherman says the similarities do not end there.

"We as a coaching staff like Neil very much, and I think he's one guy who will only get better," Leatherman said. "He's an intelligent player, he's got good jumping ability, and he's got an excellent first step. He's going to be an outstanding player."

In the frontcourt, several people could see action as the Eagles look to overcome their size problems. Sophomore Micah Pate, who played for the Eagles' 1986-87 ODAC championship team, is back after taking two years off from school, and his outstanding knack for rebounding will be a big help. Also vying for time are sophomore Derek Hodge and freshmen John Helbert, Ashley Watson and Rod Branner.

of America, and a member of the International Public Relations Association.

Dr. Stuhr worked closely with Bridgewater College from 1980 to 1987. During those years, he advised the Development Office and the Administration on such vital programs as "Impact/91—A Projection in Excellence." His recommendations reflected the wisdom of years of experience and effective trends in fund-raising. Bridgewater College has benefitted greatly from its association with Dr. Stuhr.

Dr. Stuhr is married to the former Ruth Jones. They are the parents of two grown children; Dr. John Stuhr of Eugene, Oregon, and Dr. Margaret Stuhr of Newark, Delaware.

Dr. Stephen L. Longenecker

Dr. Stephen L. Longenecker has accepted appointment as Assistant Professor of History at Bridgewater.

Dr. Longenecker received a Master's degree in History from West Virginia University, and he completed his undergraduate work in secondary education (with honors) at Shippensburg University in Pennsylvania. He recently received his Ph.D. degree from The Johns Hopkins University, with a focus on early Pennsylvania German religion, especially the contributions made by religion to pluralism and tolerance. Research for his dissertation was supported by a fellowship funded by the Glenmeade Foundation.

Dr. Longenecker taught at two high schools in West Virginia and Pennsylvania between the years of 1975 to 1986. More recently, he held a temporary appointment as part-time visiting lecturer at Towson State University. This past spring, Dr. Longenecker taught history at Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. For a period of time, he worked in the Washington Office of the Church of the Brethren.

Dr. Longenecker is the author of several publications, among them Selma's Peacemaker: Ralph Smeltzer and Civil Rights Mediation, dealing with intolerance in the United States, and The Christopher Sauers: Courageous Printers Who Defended Religious Freedom in Early America, a book that historians who are knowledgeable about Pennsylvania history have reviewed favorably.

Mr. Lester D. Herman

Mr. Lester D. Herman, '89, has accepted the position as Computer Programmer in the Shull Computing Center. Mr. Herman graduated cum laude from Bridgewater this past May with a Bachelor of Science degree in Physics and Computer Science and Math. He is a member of the Lambda Honor Society.

In addition to working in several capacities at Bridgewater College—as a proctor for the student computer lab, as a lab assistant in the Physics Department, as an assistant to Dr. Richard Bowman in research at Brookhaven National Laboratories, and as a member of the maintenance department—Mr. Herman has worked for E. I. duPont de Nemours & Company, Inc., as a computer programmer, gaining valuable experience in Fortran, Cobol, and basic computer programming.

Mr. Kyle E. Gillenwater, Jr., '87, has accepted the position as Assistant in the Department of Health and Physical Education, Assistant Football Coach, and Women's Softball Coach.

Mr. Kyle E. Gillenwater, Jr.

Mr. Kyle E. Gillenwater, Jr., '87, has accepted the position as Assistant in the Department of Health and Physical Education, Assistant Football Coach, and Women's Softball Coach.

Mr. Gillenwater is a 1987 graduate of Bridgewater in Health and Physical Education. He has a Master of Education degree in Physical Education from Frostburg State University.

While a student at Bridgewater, Mr. Gillenwater worked in the Maintenance Department and assisted in the upkeep and appearance of the athletic fields as well as campus-wide responsibilities. As a graduate assistant at Frostburg State University, he was Director of Intramural Sports (1987-1989). His teaching activities at Frostburg included classes in weight training and conditioning, soccer, and health fitness.

Mr. Gillenwater's extra-curricular activities while a student at Bridgewater included the College Varsity Football Team, the Varsity Track Team, Executive Dorm Council, and Dorm President. He was a Dean's List student.

... And Help
Bridgewater College, Too!

Bridgewater College will pay you a guaranteed income for the rest of your life in exchange for a gift of cash, securities, or real property.

The Charitable Gift Annuity is a unique opportunity. A plan for satisfying both your philanthropic and financial goals, it is a remarkably simple vehicle.

The exact amount of the annuity payment will depend on your age, the size of your gift, and the number of lives on which the annuity will be paid. The annual annuity payment can range from 6% of the gift amount to as much as 14%. These uniform annuity rates are determined by the Conference on Gift Annuities and are currently at the highest levels ever.

Guaranteed payments for life are just the beginning. Other financial advantages are:

- A substantial and immediate income tax deduction which is often 25% to 50% of the value of the gift. Should the amount of the deduction exceed 50% of your adjusted gross income, the excess can be spread over the succeeding five years.
- The annuity income is favorably taxed, usually with 30% or more of the annuity payments being tax-free.
- The annual amount of the annuity remains constant throughout your life. It does not fluctuate with the economy, so you know exactly how much income you will be guaranteed for life.
- If appreciated property is used to fund a gift annuity, capital gains taxes are minimized. Part of the capital gain escapes taxation and the remaining capital gains taxes owed can be spread out over your life expectancy.

Today, the charitable gift annuity is a worthwhile investment. Annuity rates now being paid are comparable to many current market investments, and this rate is further enhanced by the fact that a major portion of the annuity income is excluded from federal income tax.

mission on Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs, to which he was appointed in 1987, and he acts as consultant to area hospitals in the area of medical ethics/medical-moral issues.

When asked what role he would like to see the Alumni Association play in the life of the College, Larry remarked, "I think the Alumni Association should be visible to the students. Such programs as the Career Fair allow alumni and students experience one-on-one interaction and possibly create a basis for networking."

Since 1986, Larry Johnson has been a member of the board of the Bridgewater College Alumni Association. His work with the Alumni Association is a natural extension of his involvement with Alumni Chapter activities. "I have enjoyed every minute of it!" Larry emphasized.

CLASS NOTES

We'd like to include your news in the Class Notes. Send news items to Bridgewater Alumni Magazine, Box 33, Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, VA 22812.

Mr. C. E. May

20's

C.E. May, '24, is expecting the second edition of his book, My Augusta, A Spot of Earth, Not a Woman, to be available by December 1, 1989. All 500 copies of the first edition were sold within four months in late 1987. Mr. May is living in Bridgewater.

Ruth Beahm Whitacre, '24, reports that she was 92 in December. She is living at 320 Hersherberger Road, Roanoke, VA, 24012. Mrs. Whiteacre has two sons, six grandchildren, and seven great grandchildren.

Boyd Harshbarger, '28, retired Professor, Emeritus, of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University (Blacksburg, VA), received the 1989 Wilks Award for Outstanding Contributions to Statistical Methodologies in Army Research, Development and Testing in November, 1989. Dr. Harshbarger is the first recipient of this award. The award, administered by the Army Mathematics Steering Committee through its subcommittee on Probability and Statistics, is given annually to a statistician for his or her advancement of scientific or technical knowledge in Army statistics and for contributions to statistical theory.

Warren Kyger, '43, retired in 1982 from the funeral home and ambulance service that he opened in Shenandoah, VA, in 1950. One of his four sons is still running the home in Shenandoah, and Warren occasionally helps.

George J. Edwards, '46, retired on October 31 as assistant professor at the Citrus Research and Education Center, winding up 36 years at the University of Florida facility at Lake Alfred. He produced more than 90 papers on remote sensing, and map presentations to the Florida State Horticultural Society and the Photogrammetric Engineering and Remote Sensing Society meetings. Mr. Edwards plans to be available for consultant work in such areas as photo interpretation and photo reading. He resides in Winter Haven.

Elizabeth Wolfkill Rogers, '46, recently completed a two-year term as President of League of Women Voters in the Bemidji (MN) area. Mrs. Rogers is "retired", but somehow is busier than ever.

50's

Ray Neff, '50, has reissued his book, Valley of the Shadow, originally released in December, 1987. Valley of the Shadow is the true story of the Civil War in the Shenandoah Valley. It focuses on the lives of Elder John Kline, religious martyr and Col. John Francis Neff of Jackson's 33rd Virginia Infantry. Mr. Neff is an Emeritus Professor of Indiana State University. The book can be ordered from Rana Publications, P.O. Box 2507, Terre Haute, Indiana 47802, or call 1-800-752-6402. The second edition is available for $19.95 postpaid.

Dr. Ray A. Neff

Edward Byrd, '52, became principal of Port Republic Elementary School in July, 1989. Mr. Byrd taught at Elkton Elementary, Turner Ashby High and Dayton Elementary after graduating from B.C. and Madison College. He then served as principal of Ottobine, assistant principal of Montevideo Intermediate, and then returned to Dayton Elementary as principal.

Raymond A. Bussard, '54, retired in 1987 from the University of Tennessee and is living at The Patch, a homesite near Bath County High School. Bussard returned to Bath County with his wife, Ruth, because of the people. "I like the people more than anything," he said. "The people are very polite, caring, and helpful." The Patch was once the residence of Bussard's grandfather, John Terry. Bussard stays involved in swimming because he sees it as the best sport and exercise.

Edward Jeffries, '58, was the featured speaker from Lakeland's (FL) first United States Tennis Association area training center program at the Kelly Recreation Complex in October. His discussion included nutrition, stretching, injury prevention and reduction of body heat during and after a match. Dr. Jeffries is the women's tennis coach at Florida Southern College.

Cecil Lee Haycock, '59, retired from full time pastoral ministry in June, 1988, and moved back to his farm home near Wardensville, WV. Rev. Haycock is serving as part time pastor of the Walker's Chapel Church of the Brethren near Mt. Jackson, VA.

60's

Bruce D. Spicer, '65, is serving as Sales Manager for Tri-Gas & Oil Co., Inc., where sales personnel from Tri-Gas Cambridge, Chester, Chertown, Galena and Federalsburg (MD) terminals will be reporting. Bruce, a certified Dale Carnegie Public Speaking instructor, lives with his wife, Joan, and two daughters in Federalsburg.

Yvonne Kauffman, '66, reached another coaching milestone in December during her 20th season as mentor of the Lady Jays, the Elizabethtown College women's basketball team. With the 350th career win at the Lancaster County institution,

Yvonne Kauffman

Yvonne has amassed a 350-91 record, ranking her 18th among winningest women's active collegiate coaches. Under her direction, Elizabethtown has won two NCAA Division III National Championships (1982, 1989), been Division III tournament finalists twice (1983, 1984), won six Middle Atlantic Conference championships, and has been victorious in nearly 80% of its games.

Warren Murphy, '67, began serving as Episcopal Rector of Christ Episcopal Church in Cody, WY, on December 1, 1989. He previously served eight years as Rector of Trinity Episcopal Church in Florida. Rev. Murphy will continue to serve as Chair of the Wyoming Church Coalition.

Linda Andes-Georges, '69, has co-edited the Badgerland-Striders Newsletter (Milwaukee, WI), for the past 12 months. The newsletter has a subscription list of 1400 running enthusiasts. [Editor's note: The last two times she has run in the Homecoming "5-K Run," Linda placed first in her category in 1987, and received the silver medal (also in her category) in September, 1989.]
